Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Gothic or similar, covering the majority of the page. The text is dense and appears to be a continuous block of writing, possibly a letter or a page from a manuscript. The ink is dark, and the paper shows signs of age and wear.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Latin, covering the majority of the page. The text is dense and appears to be a single column of writing. The script is a cursive Gothic hand, characteristic of the late 14th or early 15th century. The ink is dark, and the parchment shows signs of age, including some staining and wear at the edges. The text is arranged in approximately 30 lines, with some variations in line length and spacing. The overall appearance is that of a well-preserved but aged manuscript page.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Gothic or similar, covering the entire page. The text is dense and appears to be a continuous block of writing, possibly a letter or a legal document. The ink is dark, and the parchment shows signs of age and wear.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Latin, covering the majority of the page. The text is dense and appears to be a continuous passage, possibly a letter or a treatise. The script is a cursive Gothic hand, characteristic of the late 14th or early 15th century. The text is written in dark ink on aged, yellowish parchment. There are some large initial letters, possibly in red or blue, though they are difficult to discern due to fading and the angle of the page. The text is arranged in approximately 25 lines, with some variations in line length. The overall appearance is that of a well-used manuscript page.
