Universitätsbibliothek Paderborn

Travels into several remote nations of the world in 4 pt.

Swift, Jonathan
London, 1726

Chap. VI. Several Contrivances of the Author to please the King and Queen. He shews his Skill in Musick. The King enquires into the State of Europe, which the Author relates to him. The King's ...

to BROBDINGNAG. 249

R2\% Tratr rnex

C H A P

Several Coñtrivances of the Author to pleafe the King and Queen. He foeres: bis Skill in Mufick. The King en quires into the State of Europe, woich the Autbor relates to him. The King's Obfervations thereon. wand Ithik tods

USED to attend the King's. Levee once or twice a Week, land had often feen him- under the Barber's hand, which indeed was at firt yery terrible to behold: For the Razor was almof, twice, as long as an ordinary Scythe. His Majefty, according to the Cuftom of the Country, was on1y :haved twice a Weeton I once prevailed on the Barber to give me fome of the Suds or Lather, out of which I picked forty or fifty of the Atrongen fumps of Hair II then took a piece of fine

$$
\mathrm{S}_{3} \text { Wood, }
$$

Wood, and cut it like the Back of a Comb, making feveral Holes in it at equal diftance with as fmall a Necdle as I could get from Glumdalclitch. I fixed in the Stumps fo artificially, fcraping and floping them with my Knife towards the Points, that I miade a very tolerable Comb; which was a feafonable Supply, my own being fo much broken in the Teeth, that it was almoft ufelefsi: Neither did I know any Artift in that Country fo nice and exact, as would undertake to make me another.

AND this puts me in mind of an amufement wherein I feent many of my leifure Hours. I defired the Queen's Woman to fave for me the Combings of her Majefty's. Hair, whereof in time I got a good quantity, and confulting with my Friend the Cabinet-maker, who had received general Orders to do little Jobbs for me, I directed him to make two Chair-frames, no larger than thofe I had in my Box, and then to bore little Holes with a fine Awl round thore Parts where I defigned the Backs and Seats; through thefe Holes I wove the ffrongeft Hairs I could pick out, juft after the manner of Cane-Chairs in England. When they were finifthed, I made a Prefent of them to her Majefty, who kept them in her Cabinet, and ufed to fhew them for Curiofities, as indeed they were the Wonder of every one that beheld them. The Queen would have had me fit upon one of thefe Chairs, but I abfolutely refufed to obey her, protefting I would rather die a thoufand Deaths than place a difhonourable Part of my Body on thofe precious Hairs that once adorned her Majefty's Head. Of thefe Hairs (as I had always a mechanical Genius) I likewife made a neat little Purfe about five foot long, with her Majefty's Name decyphered in Gold Letters, which I gave to Glumdalclitch, by the Queen's Confent. To fay the truth, it was more for Shew than Ufe, being not of ftrength to bear the Weight

to BROBDINGNAG. 251

$$
S_{4}
$$

$22^{1} \frac{2}{2}$ DVOYAGE OSG of of the larger Coins, and therefore fhe kept nothing in it but fome little Toys that Girls are fond of:

The King, who delighted in Mu-s fick, had frequent Conforts at Court, to which I was fometimes carried, and fet in my Box onza Table to hear them: But the Noife was fo great, that I could. hardly diftinguifh the Tunes pril am conts fident that all the Drums and Ixumpets of a Royal Army, beating and founding together juft at your Eats, could not equal it. My practice was to have my Box removed from the places where the Berformers fata, as far as Icould, then to flyut the Doors and Windows of it, and draw the Window-curtains; after which I found their Mulick not difagreeable.
I HAD learned in my Youth to play a little upon the Spinet. Glumdalclitch kept one in hef Chamber, and a Mafter attended twice a Week to teach her: 1 call it a Spinet, becaufe it fomewhat refembled that Inffrument, and was playd upon in the fame manner. A Fancy came into my Head that I would entertain the King and Queen with an Englifh Tune upon this Inftrument. Bur this appeared extremely difficult: For, the Spinet was near fixty foot long, each Key being almoft a foot wide, fo that with my Arms extended, I could not reach to above five Keys, and to prefs them down required a good fmart ffroak with my Fiff, which would be too great a Labour, and to no purpofe. The Method I contrived was this. I pre pared two round Sticks about the Bignefs of common Cudgels; they were thicker at one end than the other, and I covered the thicker ends with a piece of a Moufe's Skin, that by rapping on them, I might neither damage the tops of the Keys, nor interrupt the Sound. Before the Spinet a Bench was placed about four foot below the Keys, and I was put upon thic Bench. I ran fideling upon it that way and this, as faft as I could, banging the proper Keys with their Majefties: But it was the moft violent Exercife I ever underwent, and yet I could not ftrike aboye fixteen Keys, nor, confequently, play the Bafs and Treble together 5 as other Artifts do; which was a great Difadvantage to my Performance.

to BROBDINGNAG. 253

THE King, who, as I before obferved, was a Prince of excellent Undertanding, would frequently order that I fhould be brought in my Box, and fet upon the Table in his Clofet: He would then command me to bring one of my Chairs out of the Box, and fit down withing three yards diffance upon the top of the Cabinet, which brought me almoft to a level with his Face. In this manner I had feveral Converfations with him. I one day took the Freedom to tell his Majefty, that the Contempt he difcovered towards Europe, and the reft of the World, did not feem anfwerable to thofe excellent

to BROBDINGNAG. 255

excellent Qualities of the Mind he was Mafter of. That Reafon did not extend it felf with the balk of the Body: On the contrary, we obferved in our Country, that the talleft Perfons were ufually leaft provided with it. That among other Animals, Bees and Ants had the Reputation of more Induftey, Art and Sagacity, than many of the larger kinds; and that, as inconfiderable as he took me to be, I hoped I might live to do his Majefty fome fignal Service. The King heard me with attention, and began to conceive a much better Opinion of me than he had ever before, He defired I would give him as exact an account of the Government of England, as I poflibly could; becaufe, as fond as Princes commonly are of their own Cuftoms; (for fo he conjectured of other Monarchs by my former Difcourfes;) he fhould be glad to hear of any thing that might deferve imitation.

[^0]296s.DAVOYAGE 0 O 48 of Readers how often II then wifhed for the Tongue of Demofthenes of Cicero, that might have enabled me fo celebrate the Praife of my own dear native Coun-o tryy in a Stulce equal to is Merits and Fe. licity, $\qquad$ floy brit atnA bris zase alifaliaA a miformores I B EGAN NMy Difcourfe by inform3 ing his Majefly that our Dominions confifted of two cllands, which compoled three mighty Kingdoms tuader ore So vereign, befides oun Plantations in Ameriba. Iodwelt long upon the Fertility of ours Soil, and the Temperature of our Climates I then fpoke at large upon the Confitution of an Englifh Part liamento partly made oup of an illuf trious body called the Houfe of Peers, Burfonsoof the nobleft Blood, and of the moftanciont and ample fatrimonies. I deccrited that extraordinary Care aho ways taken rof their Edication in Arss and. Armssoto qualify them for being Counfellors born to the King and Kingdom: to haye a Chare int the Eeginature; chase9星

to BROBDINGNAG. 8257

to be Members of the higheft Court of Judicature, from whence there could be no Appeal, 1 and to be Champions always ready for the Defence of their Prince and Country, by their Valour, Conduct and Fidelity. That there were the Ornament land Bulwark of the KingTam, worthy Followers of their moft renowned Anceftors, whofe Honour had - been the Reward of their Virtue, from shich their Pofterity were never once known to degenerate. Tó thefe were joined feveral holy Perfons, as part of that Affembly, under the Title of Bifhops, 2. whofe peculiar Bufinefs it is to take care of Religion, and of thofe who inftruct The People therein. Thefe were fearched and fought out through the whole Nais tion, by the Prince and his wifeft Counbafellors, among fuch of the Priefthood as Lowere moft defervedly diftinguifhed by s the Sanctity of their Lives, and the Depth 3 of their Erudition, who were indeed the by piritual Fathers of the Clergy and the sapeople.
wo I I THAT

-258 (A) VOYAGE

THA the other Patt of the Parliament confitted of an Affembly called the - Houfeof Commons, who were all principal Gentlemen, freely picked andiculled out by the People themfelves, for their great Abilities and Love of their - Country, to reprefent the Wifdom of the whole Nation. And the fe two (Bodies make up the moft auguf Affembly in Europe, to whom, in conjunction with the Prince, the whole Legiflature is committed.

LTHEN defcended to the Courts of Juftice, over which the Judges, thofe yenerable Sages and Interpreters of the Law prefided, for determining the dif-- puted Rights and Properties of Men, as 2. well as for the Punifhment of Vice, and Protection of Innocence. I mentioned 1. the prudent Management of our Treafury, sithe Valour and Atchievments of our Forces by Sea and Land. I computed the number of our People, by reckoning

to BROBDINGNAG. 259

How many millions there might be of each religious Sect, or political Parcy ${ }^{3}$ among us. I did not omit even our Sports and Paftimes, or any other Particular which I thought might redound to the Honour of my Country. And I finifhed all with a brief hittorical Account of Affairs and Events in England for about an hundred Years paft.

This Converfation was not ended under five Audiences, each of feveral hours, and the King heard the whole with great Attention, frequently taking Notes of what I fpoke, as well as Memorandums of all Queftions he intended to ask me.

WHEN I had put an end to there long Difcourfes, his Majefty in a fixth Audience confulting his Notes, propofed many Doubts, Queries, and Objections, upon every Article. He asked what Methods were ufed to cultivate the Minds and Bodies of our young Nobility, bility, and in, what kind of Bufinefs they commonly fpent the firf and teachable part of their Lives. What Courfe was taken to fupply that Affembly when any noble Family became extinct. What Qualifications yere neceffary in thofe who are to be created new Lords: Whether the Humour of the Prince, a Sum of Money to a Court-Lady, or a prime Minifter, or a Defign of frengthening a Party oppofite to the publick Interef, ever happened to be Motives in thofe Advancements. What Share of Knowledge thefe Lords had in the Laws of their Country, and how they came by it, fo as to enable them to decide the Properties of their Fellow-Subjects in the latt Refort. Whether they were always fo free from Ayarice, Partialitics, or Want, that a Bribe, or fome other finifter View, could haye no place among them. Whether thofe holy Lords I fpoke of were always promoted to that Rank upon account of their Knowledge in religious Matters, and the Sanctity of their Lives, had

260 AVovage תृ

to BROBDINGNAG. 26 ir

had never been Compliers with the Times while they were common Priefts, or Alavifh proflitute Chaplains to fome Nobleman, whofe Opinions they continued fervilely to follow after they were admitted into that Affembly. $\qquad$
He then defired to know what Arts were practifed in electing thofe whom I called Commoners: Whether a Stranger with a frong Purfe might not influence the vulgar Voters to chufe him before their own Landlofd, or the moft confiderable Gentieman in the Neighbourhood. How it came to pafs, that People were fo violently bent upon getting into this Affembly, which I allowed to be a great Trouble and Expence, often to the Ruin of their Families, without any Salary or Penfion: Becaufe this appeared fuch an exalted Strain of Virtue and publick Spirit, that his Majefy feemed to doubt it might poffibly not be always fincere : And he defired to know whether fuch zealous Gentlemen O: VoL, I. T could

$262 \quad A$ Vovige

could have any Views of refunding themfelves for the Charges and Trouble they were at, by facrificing the publick Good to the Defigns of a weak and vicious Prince in Conjunction with a corrupted Miniftry. He multiplied his Queftions, and fifted me thoroughly upon every Part of this Head, propofing numberlefs Enquiries and Objections, which I think it not prudent or convenient to repeat.

UPON what I faid in relation to our Courts of Juftice, his Majefty defired to be fatisfied, in feveral Points: And, this I was the better able to do, having been formerly almoft ruined by a long Suit in the Chancery, which was decreed for me with Cofts. He asked, what Time was ufually feent in determining between right and wrong, and what degree of Expence. Whether Advocates and Orators had liberty to plead in Caufes manifeftly known to be unjuf, vexatious, or oppreffive. Whether Party in Religion or Politicks were obferved

to BROBDINGNAG. 263

to be of any Weight in the Scale of Juftice. Whether thofe pleading Orators were Perfons educated in the general Knowledge of Equity, or only in provincial, national, and other local Cuftoms. Whether they or their Judges had any Part in penning thofe Laws which they affumed the Liberty of interpreting and glofing upon at their Pleafure. Whether they had ever at different times pleaded for and againft the fame Caufe, and cited Precedents to prove contrary Opinions. Whether they were a rich or a poor Corporation. Whether they received any pecuniary Reward for pleading or delivering their Opinions. And particulariy, whether they were ever admitted as Members in the lower Senate.

He fell next upon the Management of our Treafury, and faid, he thought miy Memory had failed me, becaufe I computed our Taxes at about five or fix Millions. a Year, and when I came to mention the Iffues, he found they fometimes amountT 3

264 A Vovage
ed to more than double; for the Notes he had taken were very particular in this Point, becaufe he hoped, as he told me, that the Knowledge of our Conduat might be ufeful to him, and he could not be deceived in his Calculations. But, if what I told him were true, he was fill at a lofs how a Kingdom could run out of its Eftate like a private Perfon. He asked me, who were our Creditors; and where we fhould find Money to pay them. He wonder'd to hearme talk of fuch chargeable and expenfive $W$ ars ; that certainly we muft be a quarrelfome People, or live among very bad Neighbours, and that our Generals muft needs be richer than our Kings. He asked what Bufinefs we had out of our own Inands, unlefs upon the Score of Trade or Treaty, or to defend the Coafts with our Fleet. Above all, he was amazed to hear me talk of a mercenary ftanding Army in the midn of Peace, and among a free People. He faid, if we were governed by our own Confent in the Perfons of

to BROBDINGNAG. 265

our Reprefentatives, he could not imagine of whom we were afraid, or againft: whom we were to fight; and would hear my Opinion, whether a private Man's Houfe might not better be defended by himfelf, his Children, and Family, than by half a dozen Rafcals picked up at a venture in the Streets, for fmall Wages, who might get an hundred times more by cutting their Throats.

H e laughed at my odd Kind of Arithmetick (as he was pleafed to call it) in reckoning the Numbers of our People by a Computation drawn from the feveral Sects among us in Religion and Politicks. He faid, he knew no Reafon, why thofe who entertain Opinions prejudicial to the Publick, fhould be obliged to change, or fhauld not be obliged to conceal them. And as it was Tyranny in any Government to require the firf, fo it was W eaknefs not to enforce the fecond: For a Man may be allowed to keep Poifons, in his Clofet, but not to vend them about for Cordials.

T 3
He

$266 \quad A$ VOY A GE

He obferved, that among the Diverfrons of our Nobility and Gentry, I had mentioned Gaming. He defired to know at what Age this Entertainment was ufually taken up, and when it was laid down; how much of their Time it employed; whether it ever went fo high as to affect their Fortunes: Whether mean vicious People, by their Dexterity in that Art, might not arrive at great Riches, and fometimes keep our very Nobles in Dependance, as well as habituate them to vile Companions, wholly take them from the Improvement of their Minds, and force them, by the Loffes they have received, to learn and practife that infamous Dexterity upon others.

He was perfectly aftonifhed with the hiftorical Account I gave him of our Affairs during the laft Century, protefting it was only an heap of Confpiracies, Rebellions, Murders, Maffacres, Revolutions, Banifhments, the very worf Effects that Avarice, Faction, Hypocrify, Perfidioufnefs, Cruelty, Rage, Madnels, Hatred, Envy, Luft, Malice, or Ambition, could produce.

to BROBDINGNAG. 267

His Majefty in another Audience was at the Pains to recapitulate the Sum of all I had fooken, compared the Queftions he made with the Anfwers I had given ; then taking me into his Hands, and ftroaking me gently, delivered himfelf in thefe Words, which I fhall never forget, nor the Manner he fpoke them in: My little Friend Grildrig, you have made a moft admirable Panegyrick upon your Country: You have clearly proved that Ignorance, Idlenefs and Vice may be fometimes the only Ingredients for qualifying a Legillator: That Laws are beft explained, interpreted, and applied by thofe whofe Intereft and Abilities lie in perverting, confounding, and eluding them. I obferve among you fome Lines of an Inftitution, which in its Original might have been tolerable, but thefe T 4 half

268 AVOYAGE वg

half erafed, and the reft wholly blurred and blotted by Corruptions. It doth not appear from all you have faid, how any one Virtue is required towards the procurement of any one Station among you; much lefs that Men were ennobled on account of their Virtue, that Priefts were advanced for their Piety or Icarning, Soldiers for their Conduct or Valour, Judges for their Integrity, Senators for the Love of their Country, or Counfellors for their Wifdom. As for yourfelf, (continued the King, who have fpent the greateft part of your Life in travelling, I am well difpofed to hope Joth may hitherto have efcaped many Vices of your Country. But by what I have gathered from your own Relation, and the Anfwers I have with much Pains wringed and extorted from you, I cannot but conclude the bulk of your Natives to be the moft pernicious Race of little odious Vermin that Nature ever fuffered to crawl upon the Surface of the Earth.

HactCHAP.

[^0]:    IMAGINE with thy felf, courtcous Reader,

