in den Schulen

Handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is faint and difficult to decipher but appears to be organized into several lines. The first line is the most prominent and reads "Katholische". The second line contains several words, possibly "Katholische Kirche". The third line is shorter and less legible. The fourth line contains more words, and the fifth line is the shortest and least legible. The text is written in a cursive or semi-cursive hand.
