why those, who wish well, and who have spirit, don't do it of themselves. * * * * *

Don't distrust yourself; for, upon my word, you do perfectly well. Good night.

P. S. I send you the inclosed from poor Chataigné my page; if you can do him any service, by speaking in his behalf to any of the prince's people, pray do.

LETTER IX.

TO THE SAME.

London, June 23, O. S. 1747.

DEAR DAYROLLES,

AS the letters of the 30th N. S. are not yet come in, I have little to say to you by this post, and should hardly have written, but that I love to write to you, because I know that you love to hear from me.

I expect bad news every day from Italy, and wish more than I hope for good news from Flanders. Something, I think, must soon happen there.

I have had a very satisfactory letter from Mr. Harte, and am convinced there has been no gaming at all in the case. However, when you hear from Mr. de Bochat or Madam, in answer to the letter you write, pray send me their letters. A propos of monsieur Bochat, pray tell me in what way I can reward him, for the lectures that he has read to the boy. Should I send him money, how much? If no money, what must I present him with, and to about what value? Tell me without reserve. Make my sincerest compliments to your aunt. Good night.
