L E T T E R XXXV.

TO THE SAME.

Cheltenham, July 18, O. S. 1748.

DEAR DAYROLLES,

* * * * * I DO not see that things tend to quiet in the republic; the people, having now carried one point *, will want twenty more, of which the stadtholder must refuse at least nineteen. This use, however necessary, of his power, will exasperate those who gave it him; and the confusion which must arise from this is obvious. I thank God, I am out of the galley; but however I wish it fair weather, and a good voyage. I leave this place in two days for London. I have been here three weeks, and find myself much the better for the waters. In about a fortnight, I shall go for a week to lord Pembroke's, at Wilton, which will be my last excursion for this year, and then I shall settle in my new house, under the protection of baron Trenck. I hope, that by next summer, when peace shall have taken a certain consistency, you may get leave to make us both a visit. You will not, I believe, be sorry, and upon my soul I shall be glad. Good night.

Yours,

C.

L E T T E R XXXVI.

TO THE SAME.

London, Aug. 16, O. S. 1748.

DEAR DAYROLLES,

I RECEIVED your last, while I was at Wilton, which place Pem has improved so much that I hardly knew it again. It is now in my mind the finest seat in England. I am

* The abolition of all the taxes farmed and gathered by the excise-officers called Pachters.
