TO THE SAME.

Spa, June 12, 1754.

DEAR DAYROLLES,

NOTHING is changed in my arrangement as to this place; and I believe that you are very sure that nothing is, as to my desire of seeing you here or any where. I will complete my two months, however unwillingly, in this detestable place, that I may have nothing to reproach myself with when I leave it, which will be about the 17th or 18th of next month. You shall have good beef here, and super-excellent mutton, one entire sheep weighing but six and twenty pounds. You shall also have admirable champaign and rhenish; every thing else is as detestable as the place or the company. * * * * *

Pray make my compliments to my old and good friend your aunt, and to all others at the Hague, who may chance to remember and inquire after so insignificant a being as

Your faithful servant,

C.

L E T T E R XCII.

TO THE SAME.

Blackheath, August 1, 1754.

DEAR DAYROLLES,

A Thousand thanks to you and Mrs. Dayrolles, for your kind and friendly reception at Bruffels, and your company at Spa. As those sentiments are the first in my mind, my first letter from England shall convey them.

My
